Foreword

We grow; we mature;
we face the world.

Our days pass into a timeless, reflective mist.

Yet part of this reflection
lies here,

Among the numerous faces
of youthful friends

To be briefly remembered and relived.

Within these few pages
our lives

Are etched: a fleeting glimpse

Of memorable times
now departed.

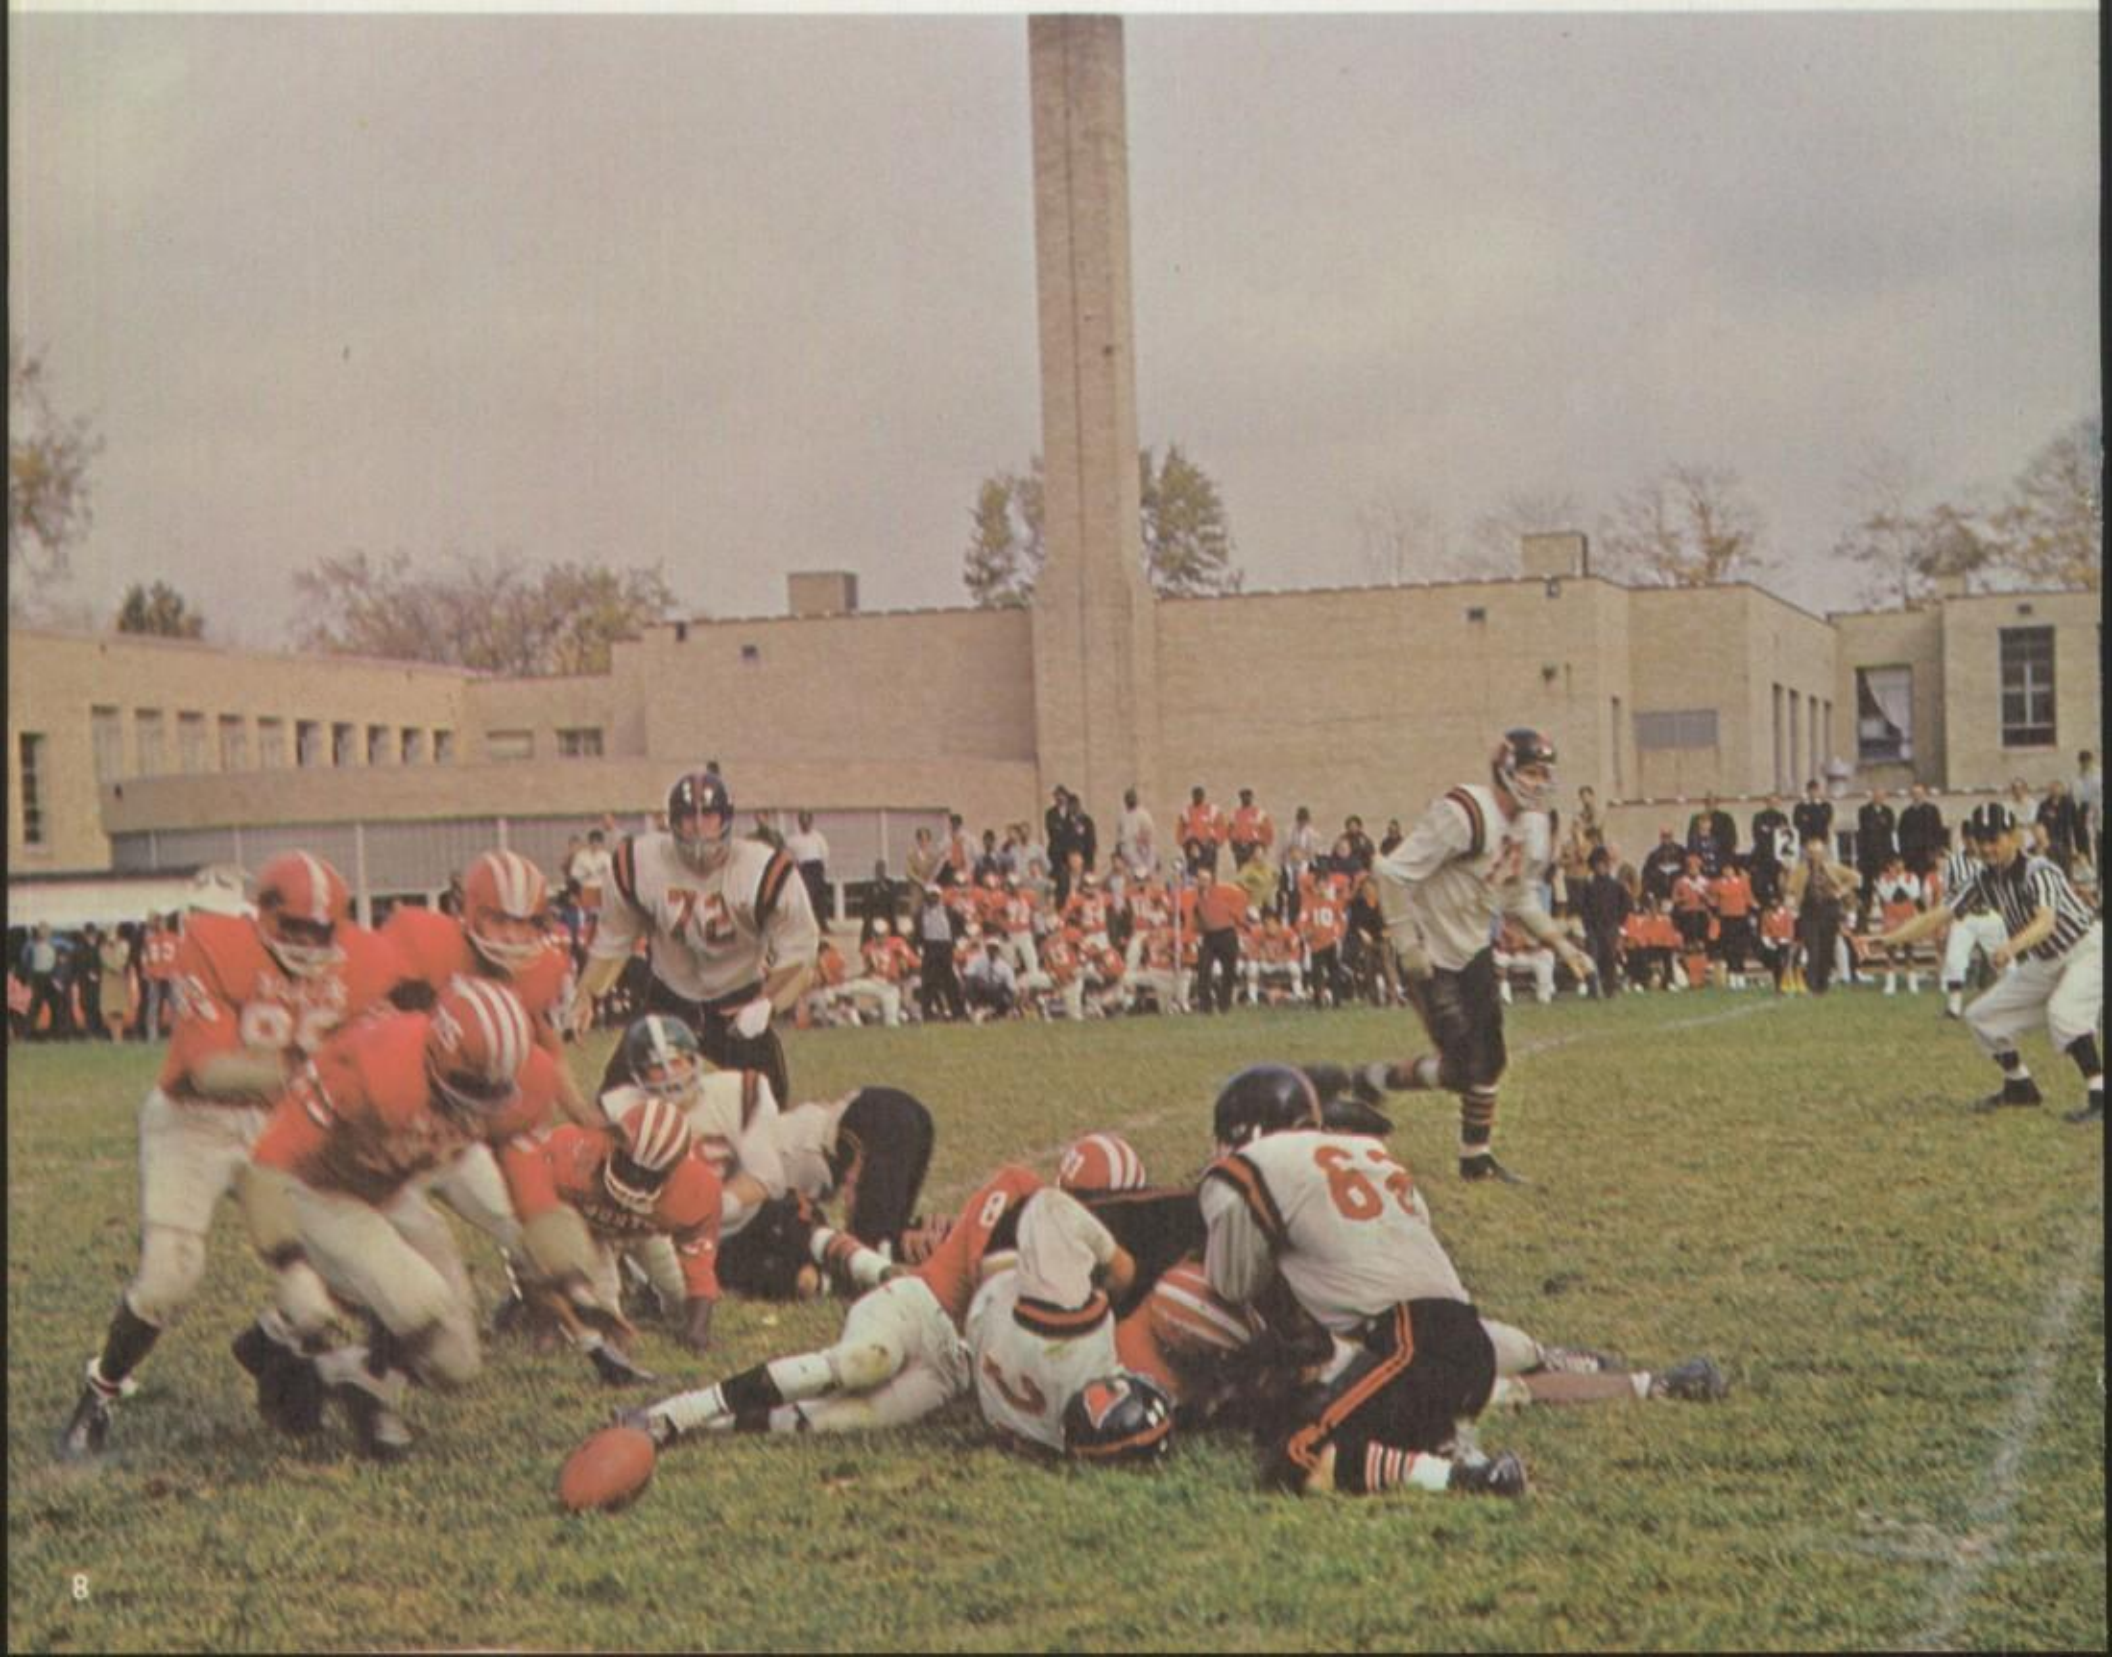
The Spirit of '68

Much can be said about the spirit of C.H.S., for we are members of a spirited generation of Young Americans. Throughout our halls this spirit lingers. It is all around us; it is part of us. It controls our every mood and action.

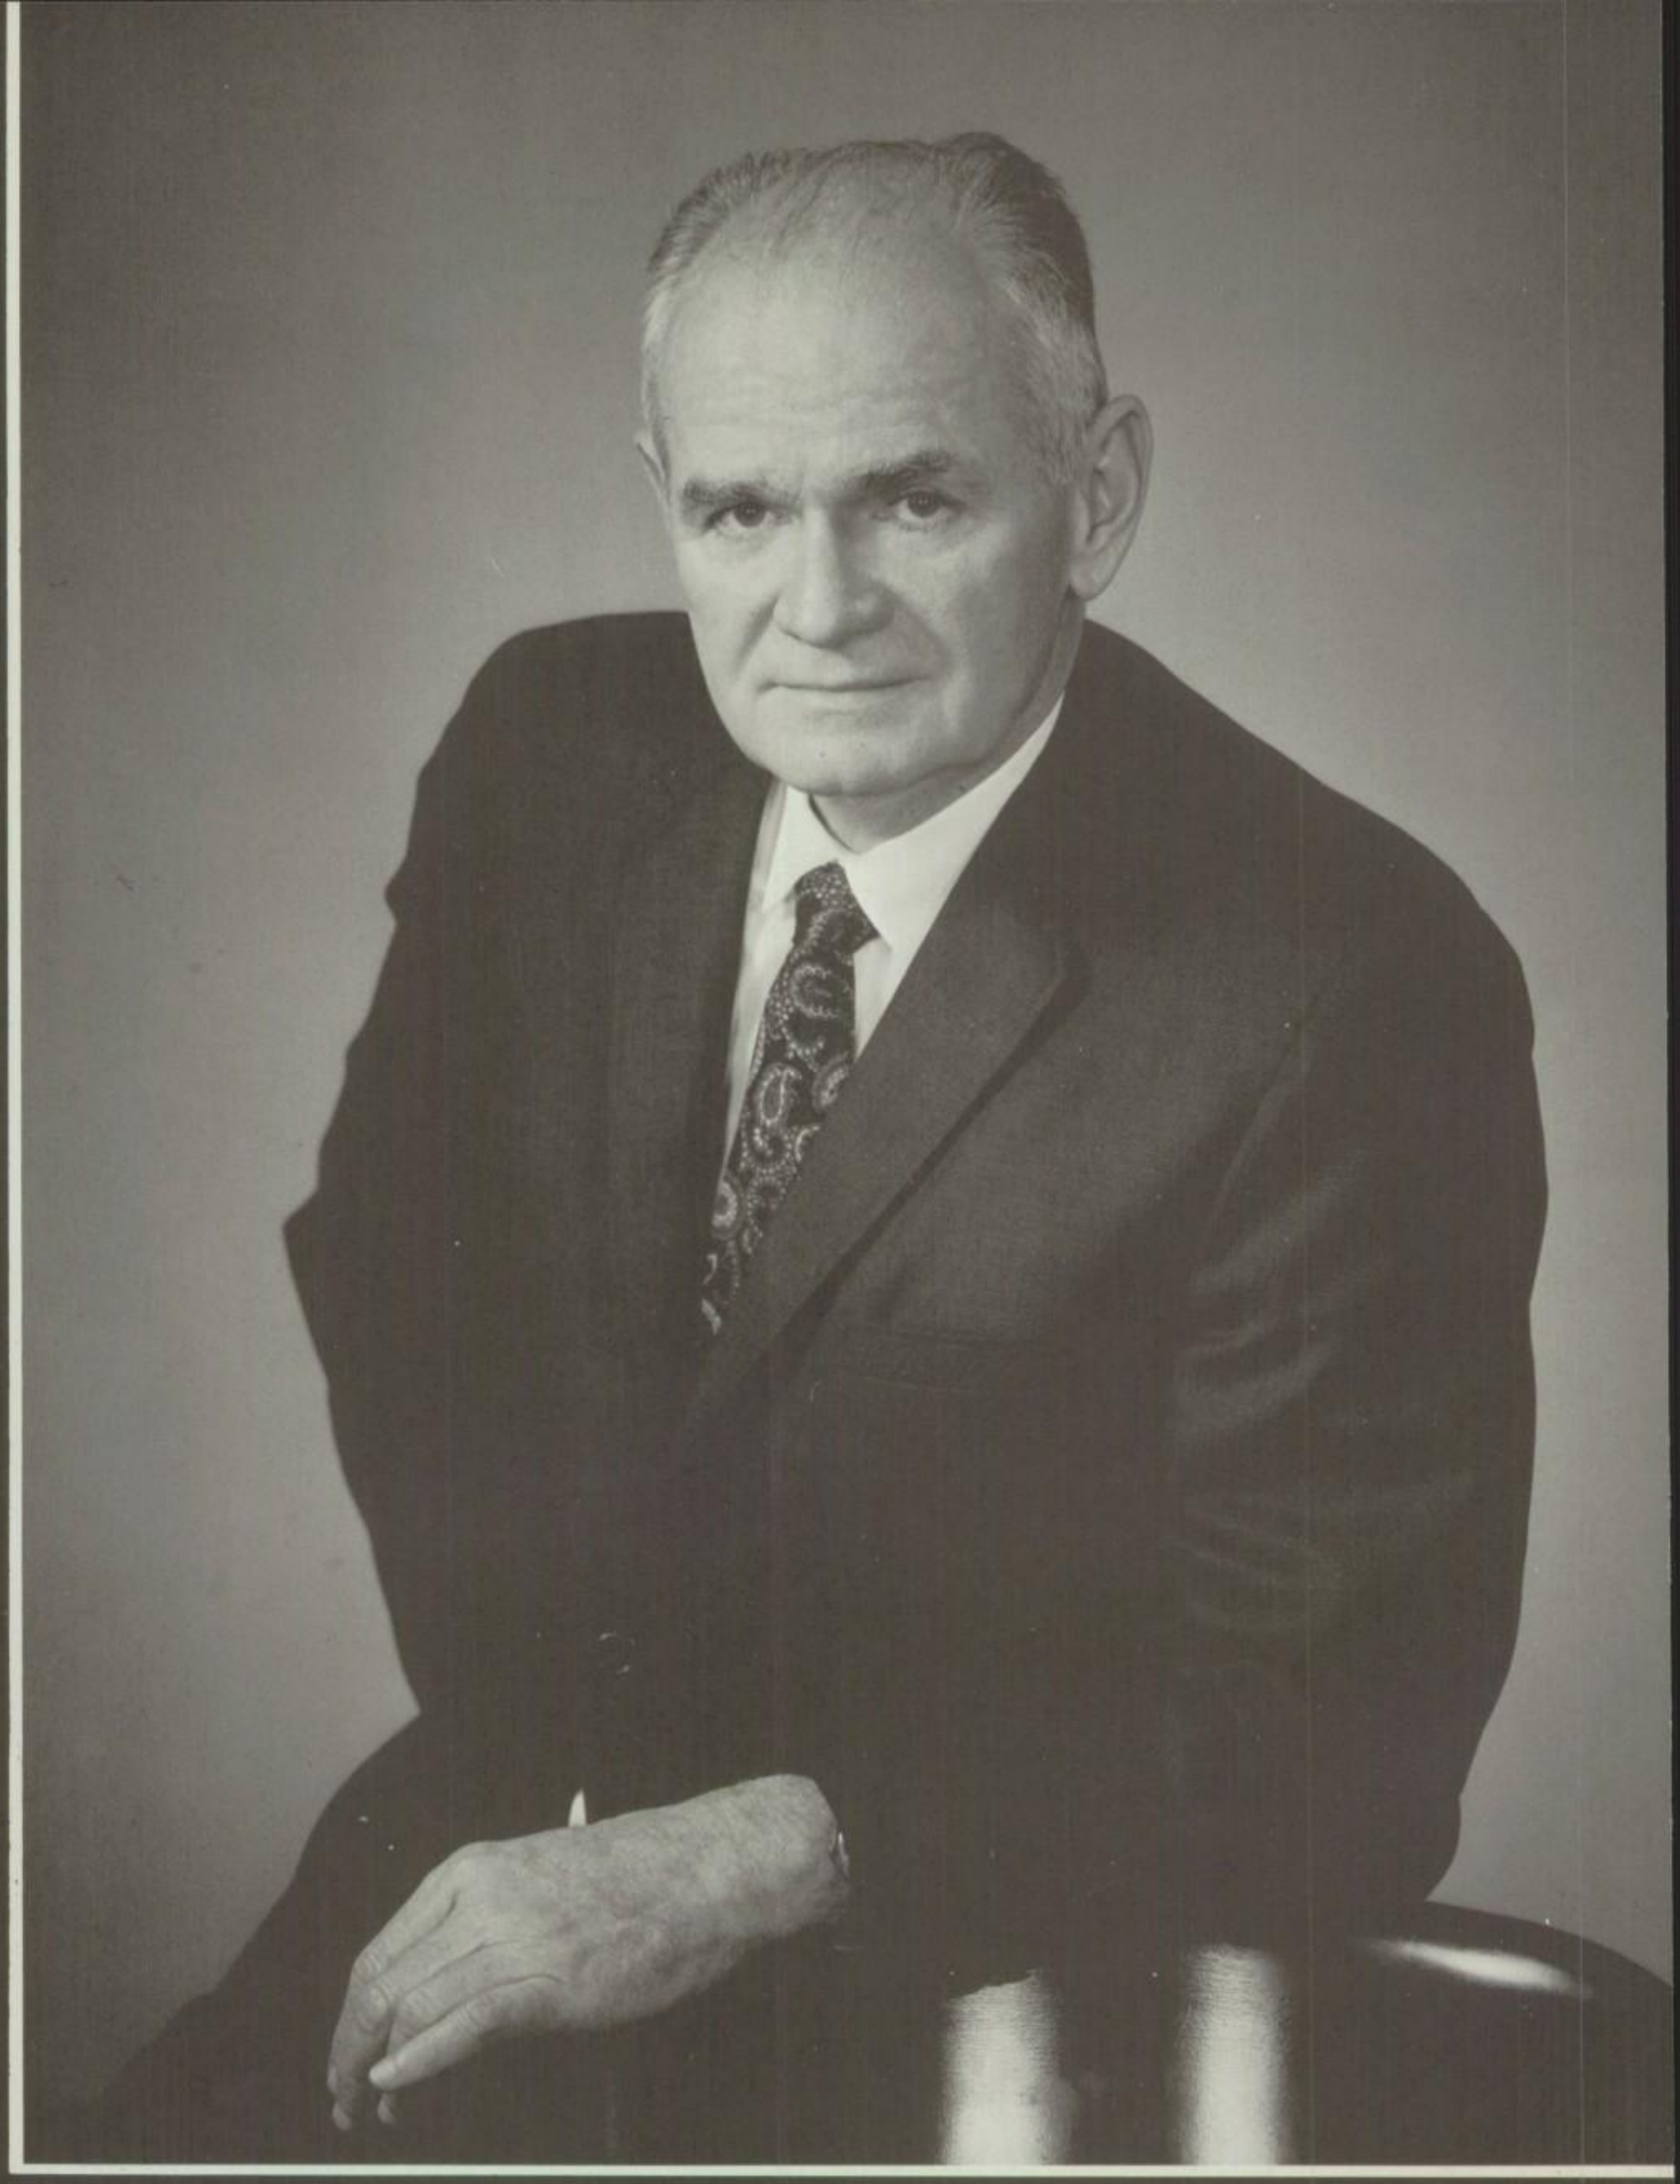
Frequently, people associate themselves with the flag raising, star-spangled kind of spirit that sends chills up and down the spines of every patriotic American. Spirit is also created by a winning team, an enthusiastic crowd, or the striving for self-improvement.

Some spirit lingers on and on; even after the people who created it have gone. These present and past personalities tend to unite, thus making a better place for all of us. They leave behind the initiative to carry on in the face of despair. To such people we owe our existence.

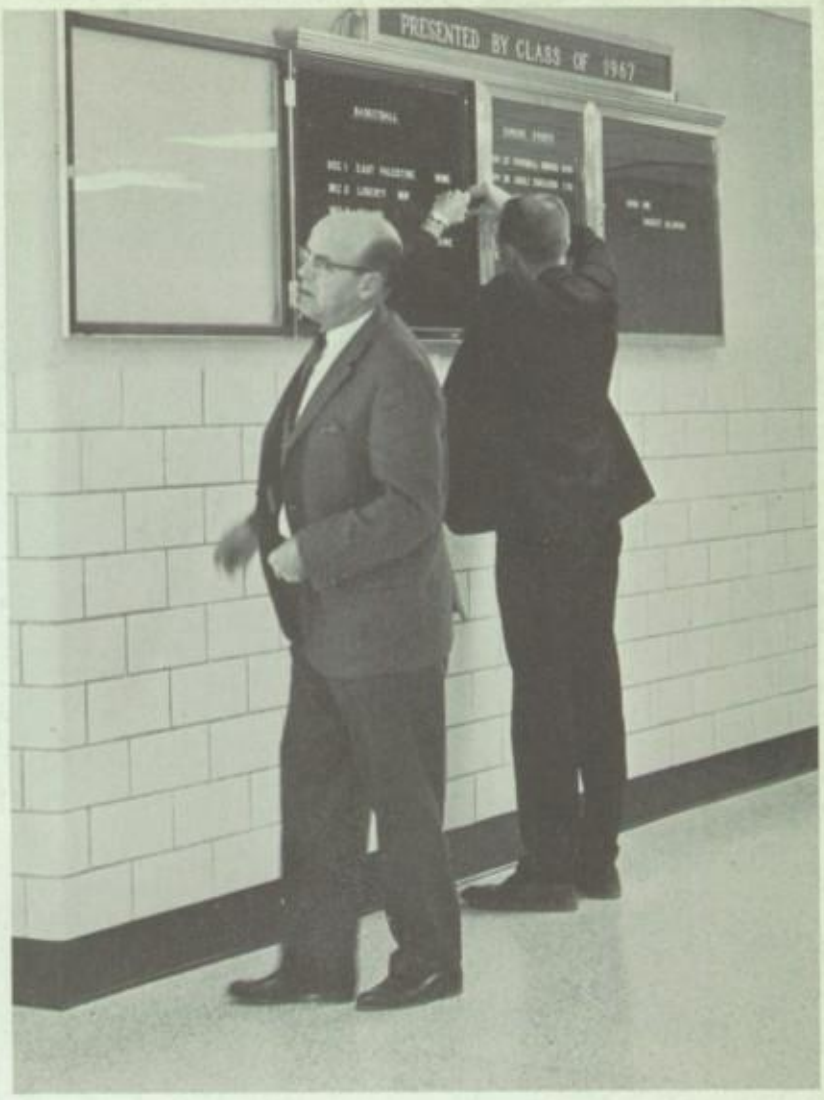
In essence, spirit is life.



Dedication



Spirit is an intangible quality that distinguishes excellence from mediocrity. Vitality, enthusiasm, and faith – these are characteristics of greatness. And they are a part of the legacy C. M. Johnson contributed to Canfield High School. He will be remembered with respect by those who knew him, and honored by those who will inherit the tradition of spirit and enthusiasm he established.



Faculty

Mr. Maurice E. Jones; Superintendent

Superintendent

Mr. Maurice E. Jones, superintendent of schools, points out that the most important tools in a successful school system are genuine interest in youth, and sincere dedication to service. He believes that every successful teacher and administrator must have these qualities. Mr. Jones displays these characteristics in his continual drive to assist students with their problems and by displaying faith in their abilities. He believes that this generation of youth is one of the finest he has seen, and he has genuine optimism for the kind of world they will create.

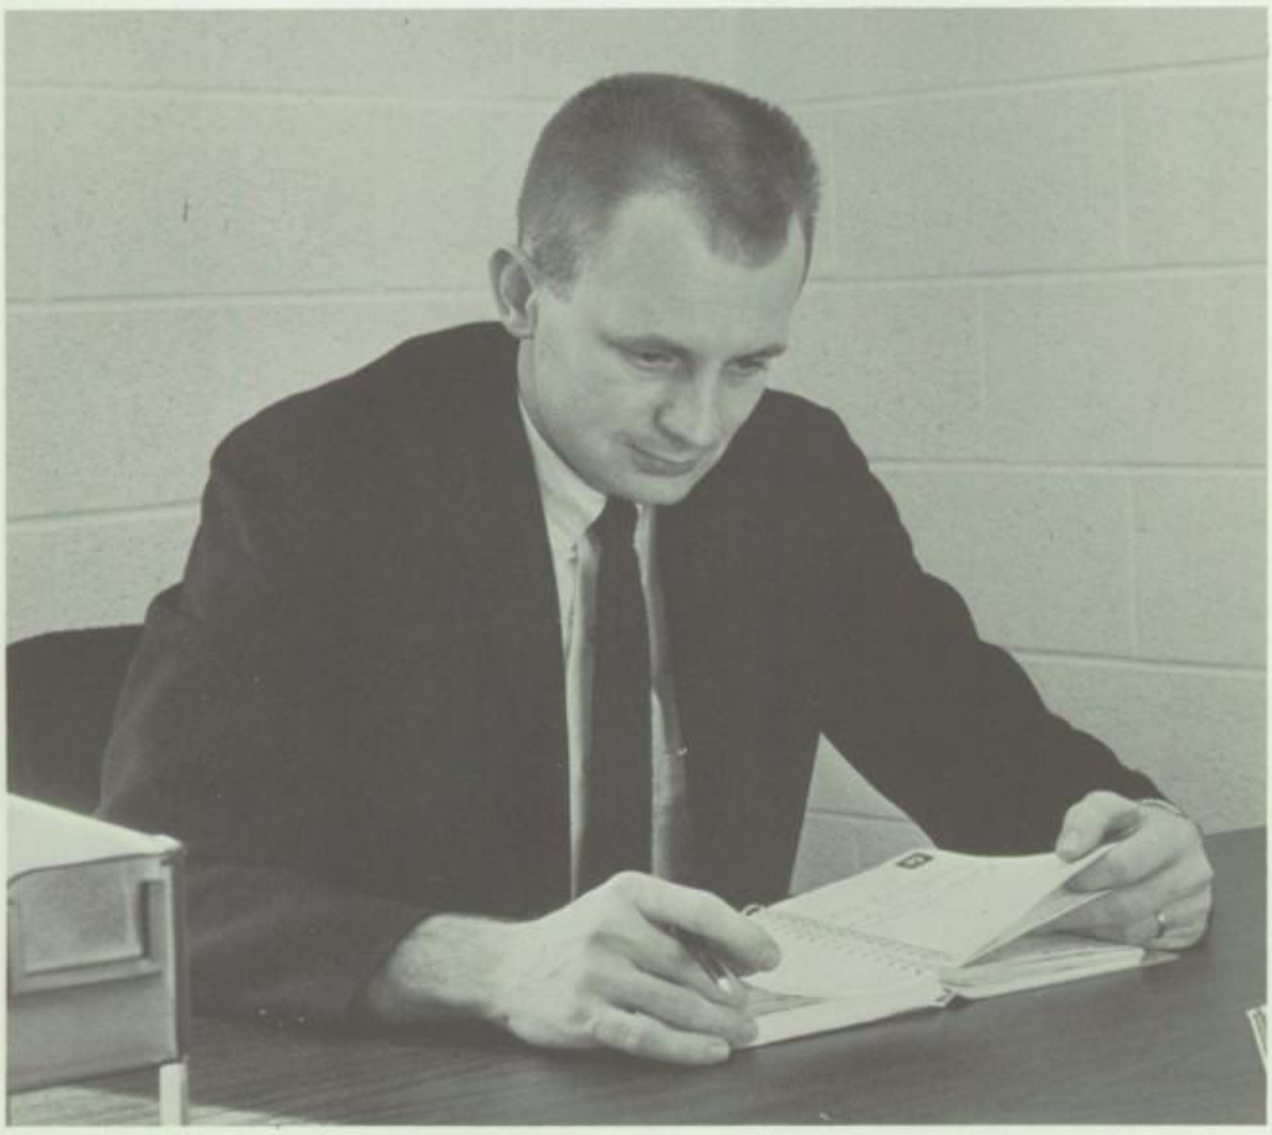
Mr. Francis, Principal

For the past thirteen years, Mr. E. E. Francis has been principal of Canfield High School. During this time he has seen the student population triple in size. This growth is a reflection of the dynamic expansion of suburban Canfield. In the process of satisfying the educational needs of the community, Mr. Francis constantly emphasizes the importance of education in a changing affluent society. As a progressive administrator, he is an integral part of the spirit of CHS.

Mr. Watkins, Assistant Principal



Mr. James Watkins has been associated with the Canfield Local School System for sixteen years, first as student, then teacher, counselor, and finally his present position as assistant principal. Even though Canfield has grown in population, Mr. Watkins reflects that the school system is still the essence of community spirit which is constantly evident. As an administrator he is continually involved in striving for educational excellence in a dynamic community.

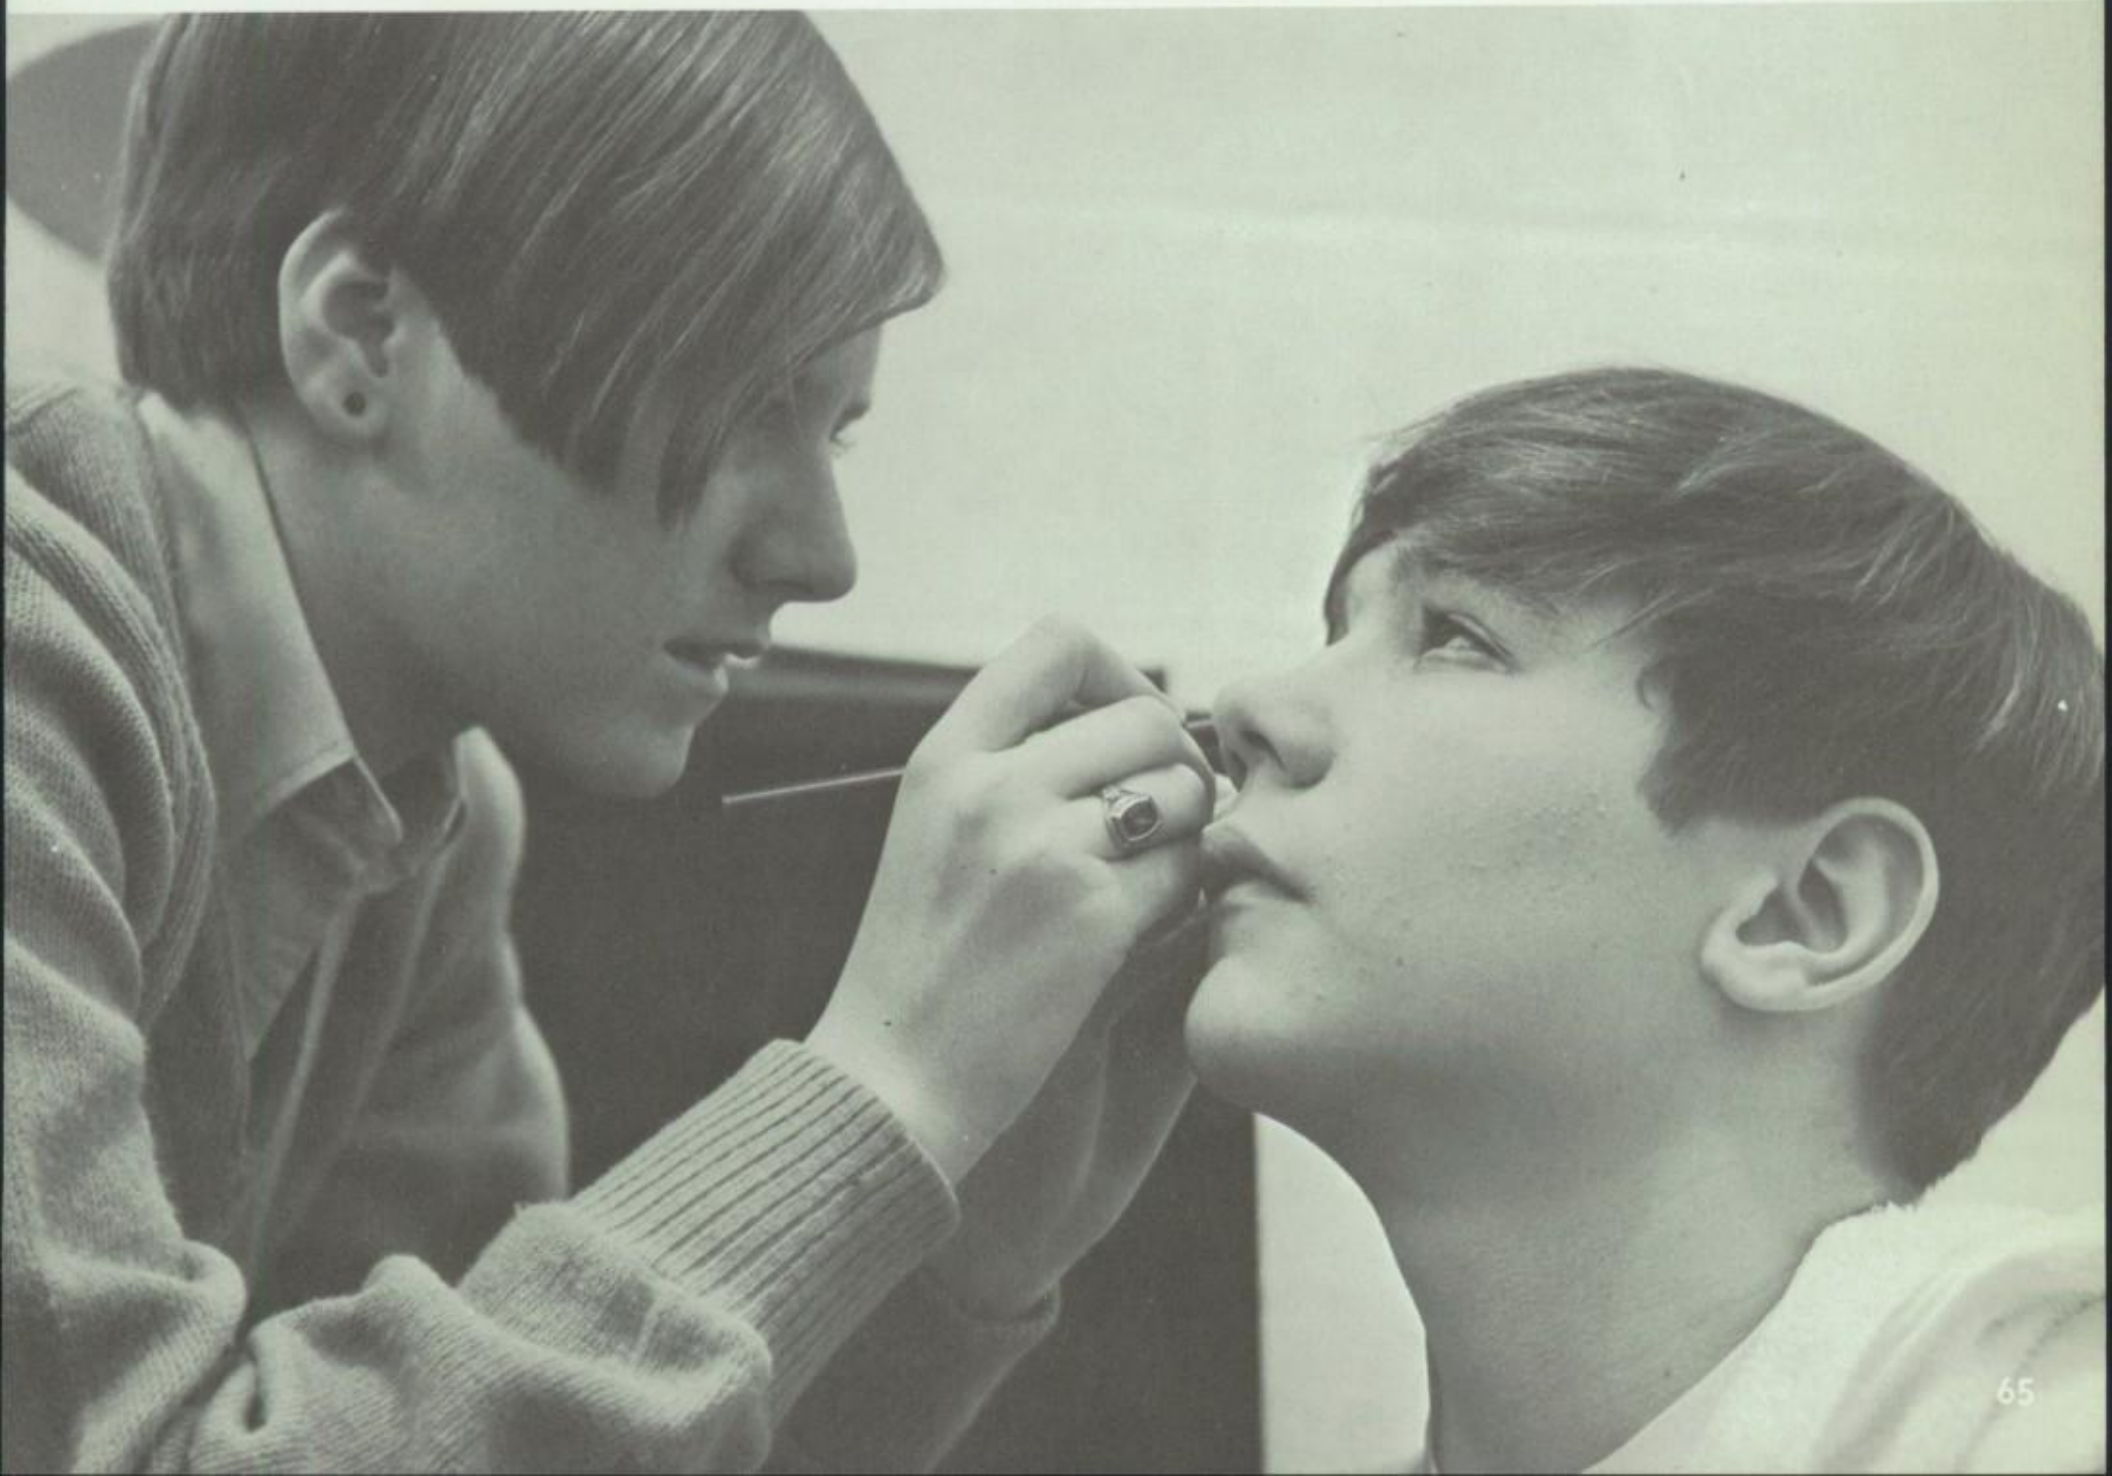
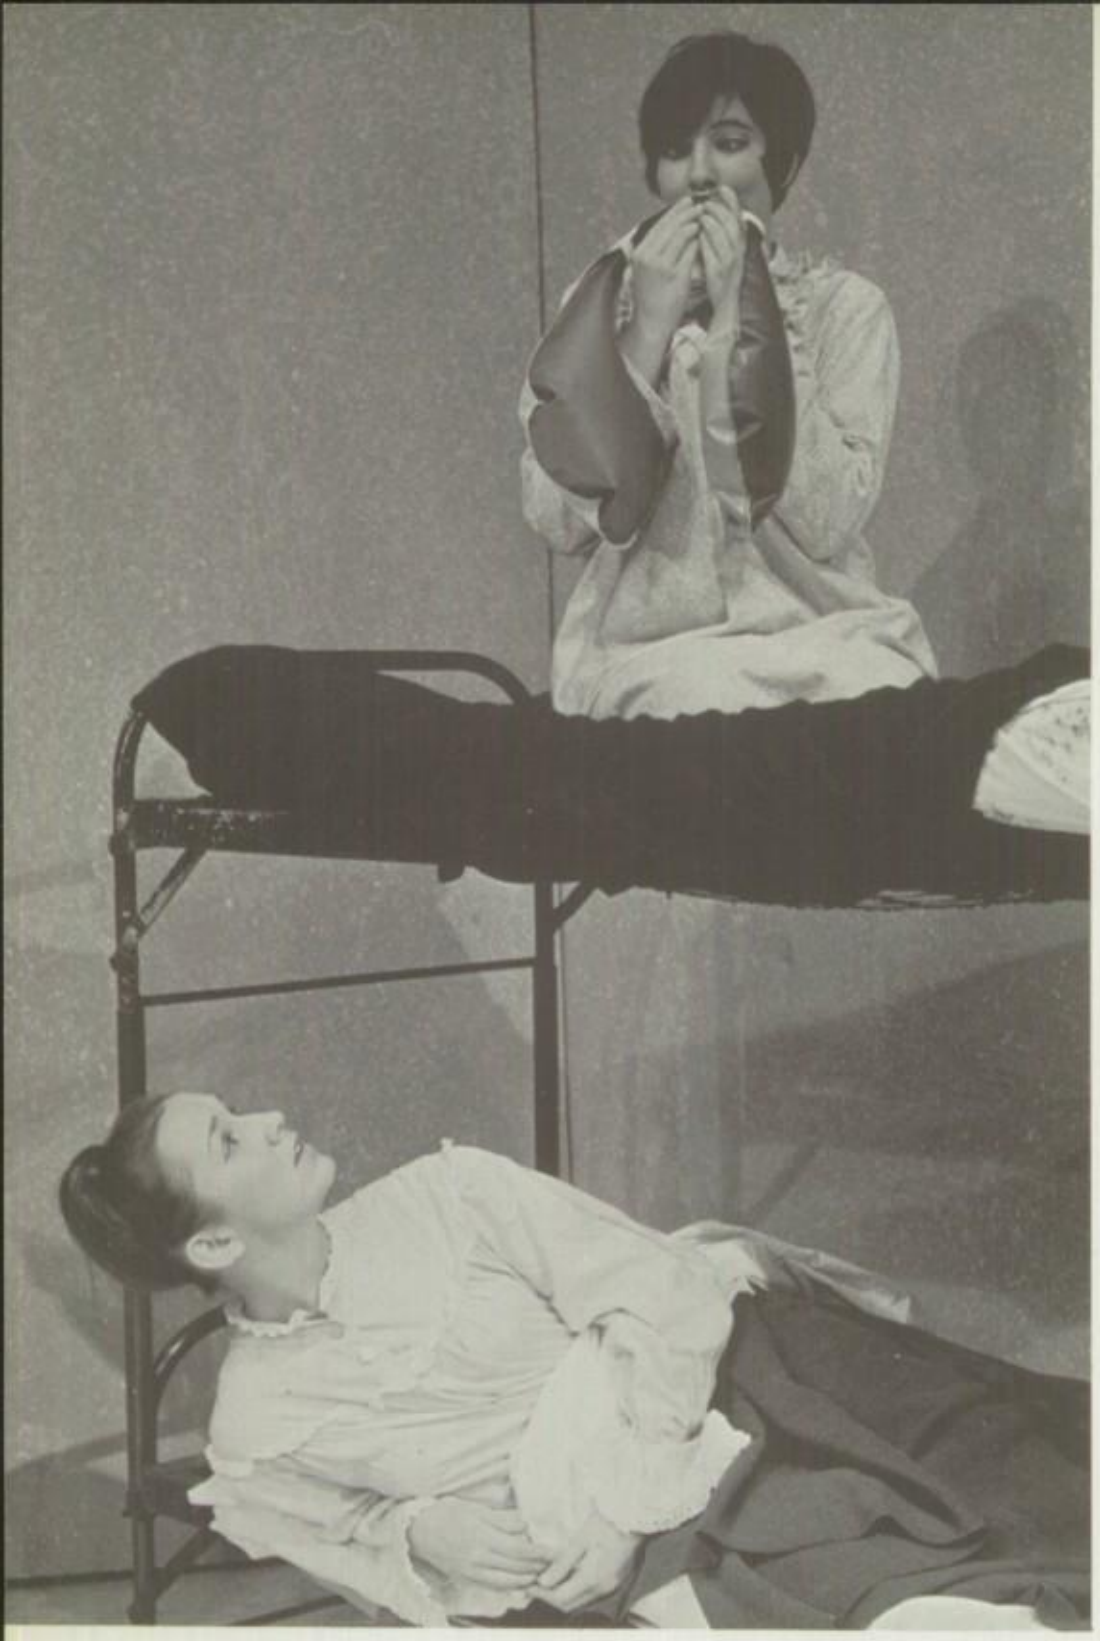
DRAMATICS





FALL PLAY

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," a light comedy written by Cornelia Otis Skinner, was the first production to be presented in the 1967-68 dramatic season. The play, sponsored by the junior class, drew capacity crowds on the nights of November tenth and eleventh.

Taking place in the "roaring 20's," the play opens with two coeds, Cornelia (Leah Flock) and Emily (Darla Hall), sailing to Paris where Cornelia planned to study acting under Monsieur De La Croix (Scott Shorten), a famous French actor. While on their ocean voyage they become entangled with two Harvard pre-med students, Leo (Jay Harstine) and Dick (Jim Masters), and two British girls, Harriet (Sally Lickovich) and Winifred (Chris Ullman).

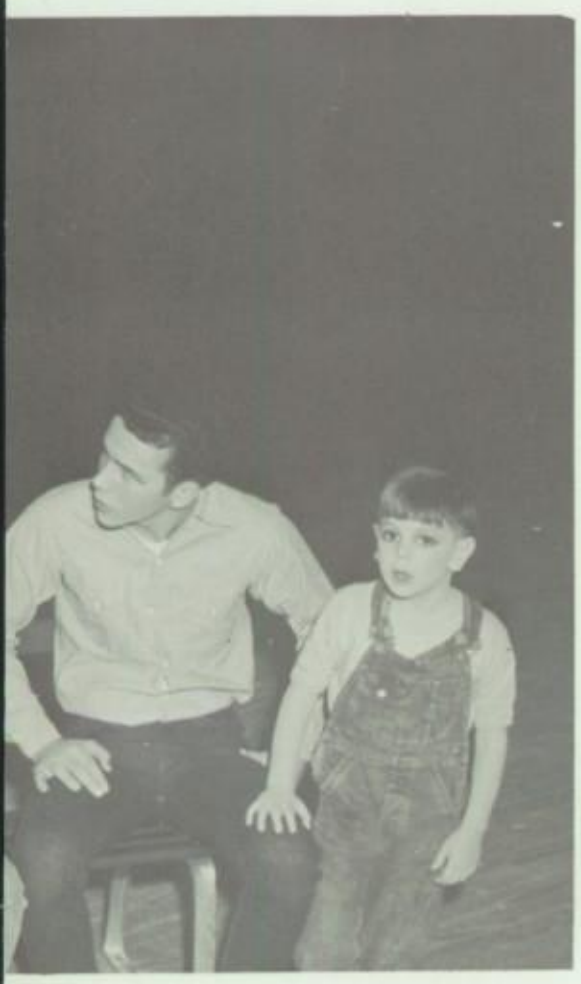
At the end of their stay in Paris, the girls are met by Cornelia's parents (Linda Sharrer and Pete Popio), also traveling in Europe, who plan to accompany the girls home.

The other members of the cast included: Rich Bucurel, Kay Carver, Carol Dilts, Mike Domer, Bill Frost, Beth McLaughlin, Bev Vangeloff and Rick Vernal.

ONE ACT PLAYS

This year the Canfield High School players presented an innovation in high school theater. Experimental Theater involved students in four weeks of hard work preparing for curtain time on February 16. The two plays were entirely student directed by four students selected for this experiment. Everyone involved gained valuable experience and knowledge of what it takes to prepare a show for opening night.

The dramatic presentations were "The Lottery," an imaginative drama about the effects of outmoded tradition on a small town, and "A Marriage Proposal," a farcical Russian comedy about a truly unusual marriage proposal.



SPRING PLAY

Daily life, love and marriage, after life – all are a summary of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town."

The absence of scenery, however, does not hinder one's perspective, only enhances one's imagination.

Stage Manager Norman Heck, brought to the audience the intense dramatic reality of life.

Spectacular lighting and fine dramatic acting highlighted the final production of the season.

Members of the cast included:

Doc Gibbs . . . . . Paul Shaffer
Mrs. Gibbs . . . . . Linda Sharrer
George Gibbs . . . . . Larry McCall
Mr. Webb . . . . . George Ulicny
Mrs. Webb . . . . . Chris Ullman

A.F.S.

I became 17 here in Canfield and, believe me, this was more than a very good year. It was a wonderful, terrific year.

Canfield High School is fantastic. The kids are great. The teachers too, of course. The only thing I am sorry about is that I shall probably never have another year as nice as this one. If I could, I would like to someday return to Canfield, to see so many to whom a great part of my heart is attached. I would like to thank the many people who gave me their time, attention, friendship and made all this possible. I will never forget the U.S.A. and especially CHS. Thank you again.

Love,

This year AFS witnessed one of its most successful years due to membership enthusiasm. In order to have two students this year, the members had to raise additional funds. This was done by sponsoring the annual card party, selling Christmas Trees, and a new project of taking inventory at Almart. Also the club operated the book store which sold school supplies.

The British have the reputation of being dignified, shy, and reserved. But, I realize that my arrival in Canfield shattered that image. Everyone at school has been really wonderful to me and I hope that if any of you come to Britain I can return the hospitality. God Bless You All!

1968 Junior-Senior Prom

"Camelot"

Preparation, work, and fun were an integral part of May 18. This year the Shangri-La hosted the first Canfield Prom to be held outside of school.

The medieval theme of "Camelot" provided the setting for the crowning of Bobbie Jo Stephens as queen by her brother, Joe Stephens, junior class president. The queen's court included Martee Blunt, Faye Dyckman, Jean Partlow, and Billie Dee St. Clair.

Any prom means a hectic day for many. Early morning found the juniors busily decorating, girls primping under hairdryers, and finally the casual, relaxed atmosphere of the after-prom which was held at the Wedgewood Bowling Lanes with dancing in the Gazebo Room to the beat of the Poppy.
